Check Out Long-Term Care Insurance Agents before Engaging with Them, Kevin Bressler of ACSIA Partners LLC Advises

Wayne, PA July 21, 2015 – If you're in the market for long-term care insurance, you've probably submitted some online forms. And your phone may be ringing. How should you respond? "Cautiously at first," says Kevin Bressler, a long-term care specialist with ACSIA Partners LLC, a leading long-term care insurance agency.

Why?

"Before any agent can develop valid recommendations and quotes, they need a lot of personal information," Bressler explains. "Sensitive facts about your health and finances. So you'd better know who you're dealing with." Also, Bressler adds, "Their level of experience matters, so it's good to check that out too."

The specialist suggests going online to answer three key questions:

1. Do they have a professional website? Today a site is an agent's calling card, evidence they're in business and serious about it, Bressler asserts. "Their site provides a wealth of information about them and their practice," Bressler explains. "To find their site, ask them for its

- 3. Can you find them on specialized industry sites? Many agents have registered with one or more of the following, according to Bressler:
 - American Association for Long-Term Care Insurance. Registered members are listed by zip code here: http://www.aaltci.org/cgi-bin/distance2agents
 - Long Term Care Guild. Registered members may be found by entering their name in "Advanced search," here: http://ltcguild.ning.com/profiles/members/
 - National Care Planning Council. Participating agents may be found by state here: https://www.longtermcarelink.net/a7insurancequotes.htm
 - Agent Review, the new rating and matching service for insurance agents and buyers. Registered members may be found by selecting "Long Term Care" as the insurance type and entering a zip code, here: http://agentreview.net/

"Once you've checked an agent out," says Bressler, "you can breathe easy knowing you're dealing with a pro, and get down to brass tacks."

Kevin Bressler is a leading long-term care solutions agent serving consumers and organizations in DC, DE, IA, IL, MA, NC, NJ, NM, PA. "We're glad to help them find the best, most affordable solution for their situation," Bressler says. "In addition to long-term care insurance, today's options range from critical illness insurance to annuities and life insurance with LTC riders."
